LIBER 20 PAGE 108

graph and the state of the stat

- Q You built an addition to the house? A. Yes.
- Q Kitchen? A. Yes.
- Q You dug a cistern? A. That's right.
- the cistern?

  A. My wife and I.
- Did you build any other building after you and your wife moved there?
- A Well about, as near as I remember, it's been about fourteen or fifteen years ago, I built a garage.
  - Q Single garage? A. Yes.
  - Q Did you build it on masonry or on stilts?
- It is just right on the ground with a little cement wall underneath of it. The frame sets right on it.
  - Q (The Court) Not fastened? A No, sir.
  - Q (Mr. Harp) What did that garage cost?
- A This man Virts in Frederick built it for me and as near as I remember it was $216.
  - Q And you paid for it? . Yes.
  - Q Did you build any other building on this lot?
- A Yes, I built two chicken houses. One of those I just built since they built this bridge at Steiner's.
  - Q Since your wife died? A. No, before.
  - What did these two chicken houses cost you?
  - A About $150.
  - Q Doth together? A. Yes.
  - Q How are they constructed? A. On locust posts.
  - Q (The Court) Are they fastened attached to the soil?
- A Just about that deep (indicating) in the ground. The locust is sawed off and the sills laid right on top the posts.
  - Q The sills are not fastened to the post? A. No.
  - Q (Mr. Harp) The building sets on four locust posts?
  - A Well, eight locust posts. It is in an L shape.